

Karen Brooks Hopkins served as President of the Brooklyn Academy of Music from 1999 until her retirement in 2015, and was an employee of the institution since 1979. Hopkins served as the chair of the Cultural Institutions Group from 2002-2004, a member of the Mayor's Cultural Affairs Advisory Commission and as a participant on Mayor de Blasio's transition committee. From 2005-2010 she served as the Brooklyn Regent for the New York State Education Department. In 2013, Crain's named her one of the "50 Most Powerful Women in New York," and in 2014 she was one of ten selected into its inaugural "New York Business Hall of Fame." Hopkins serves on the boards of the Jerome L. Greene and Alexander Onassis Foundations, and is currently Senior Fellow in Residence at the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and Fellow of the National Center for Arts Research (NCAR) at Southern Methodist University.
